Membership Guidelines:

TCNL exists, in a large part, to provide learning and playing experiences for persons interested in playing traditional Swedish folk music, primarily from the province of Uppland, Sweden. As such, membership is open to all players, regardless of level that play or wish to play traditional Uppland folk instruments. These instruments include first and foremost the Nyckelharpa but also the fiddle and clarinet.

Non-traditional Uppland folk instrument membership is limited and specific to the needs of the Lag. Applications will be processed on a case by case basis under the direction of the Chairperson for TCNL's Membership Committee.

Members are encouraged, to the best of their abilities, to attend regular practices held twice a month at designated locations in the Twin Cities.

TCNL provides members access to significant learning resources via a database connected to its proprietary website. These resources have been provided by contributing teachers and others at the request of TCNL. By accessing this site, members acknowledge that such materials may not be distributed outside of the current membership, in written or electronic form, unless authorized by contributors of those materials.
